

What you'll need for your background screening

The exact documents you'll need to provide will vary based on your employer's screening requirements, and whether or not we're able to get verifications directly from source (your university/workplace/professional body).

In the meantime it's useful to make sure you have up to date information about the following to make your screening as fast as possible:

Address History

- Address history for up to a period of 10 years, including any international addresses
- If travelling with no fixed address during this time, you'll be asked for details

Identification Documents

- A copy of photographic identification like your passport or driving license

Employment and References

- Your employment history, including details of any gaps in your employment

Education and Credentials

- Details, and copies of certificates for your education and professional qualifications/memberships

Please take a photo or scan each of your documents separately and ensure that the the image is legible.
