

First Advantage's remote digital check services enable you to hire smarter and onboard faster, by enabling your candidates to submit their identification documentation to check their identity more efficiently and affordably. This is especially important in today's competitive recruitment market, when onboarding processes need to be simple and fast to attract the talent you want.

What is it?

Our digital first mobile journey is designed to help candidates check their identity by leveraging key technology features:

- Document capture
- Selfie
- Biometric chip data reading
- Liveness check
- Facial recognition

Check results are cross referenced with data from several sources, to provide robust and compliant checks.

Digital identity can be used, stand alone, to conduct a robust identity check or to attain GPG assurance levels, set out by the UK's Digital Trust and Attributes Framework, enabling remote UK right to work or DBS criminal record checking.

For candidates who prefer to visit a physical location, we also provide access to the UK's national Post Office branch network and enable the applicants ability to continue checks at their desired location.

100% Fulfilment for Right to Work

Support candidates whether they are British or Irish citizens or are from outside the EEA.

Onboard Faster

Significantly reduce time to hire from weeks to minutes by removing the need to see original ID documentation at a physical location.*

96% Use Mobile

The number of mobile internet users in the UK has reached 62.3 million. That's 96% of adults

What do I get?

With First Advantage's remote digital identity checking service, you get an efficient and easy to use candidate journey, with near real time results returned to employers via a dashboard. Check identity digitally by confirming documents are valid, authentic and belong to the individual conducting the check. Data is accessible via a simple dashboard and audit trail.

What are the benefits?

First Advantage's candidate journey is easy to use, efficient, compliant, and cost effective.

Using our digital identity service you can reduce manual intervention, time, and cost associated with such checks.
